LIBERTY BAPTIST CHURCH

The re-decorating program is well under way. This project includes the re-modeling of the pulpit and choir loft, extending the pulpit forward, and making a loft that will seat 40 people. A complete new wiring of the Sanctuary with new lighting fixtures, and painting the Sanctuary in a three color pattern.

This project is expected to be completed by June 1.

The Church and Concord choirs, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Tolbert, gave a wonderful Easter Cantata last Sunday night. Also, the church added 12 new members as a result of the recent revival. VIRGINIA SYMPHONY TO MAKE RETURN VISIT TO APPOMATTOX

Due to much interest throughout the community, the Woman's Club of Appomattox is sponsoring a return engagement of the Virginia Symphony, under the able leadership of the conductor, William Hooker. The concert will be given on May 15, at 8:00 P. M., in the Appomattox Elementary School.

Last year, the Symphony's visit to Appomattox proved to be a highly successful one. Mr. Hooker and the orchestra were received with much enthusiasm.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from Mrs. Walter E. Ferrell at Appomattox High School or from any Woman's Club member. Plainly tickets will be sold at a special rate.

EARLY CALVES KEY TO PROFIT

Early calves are the key to adequate gross returns in the beef cow business, says Curtis Mast, beef cattle specialist, Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Most Virginia beef calves are marketed between September 20 and October 20, and must be big enough by this time to return a profit.

Agricultural economists say it costs about $101 to keep a beef cow one year in Virginia. This includes the cost of pasture, winter feed, labor, and the many other costs that go into maintaining a beef cow. Therefore, every calf must return over $101 if he is going to show his owner a net profit.

Checking records over the past five years, Mast finds that the average beef calf born on December 15 will weigh 544 pounds on October 1 (average weight of heifer and steer calves combined). These calves sold through Virginia feeder calf sales have averaged $135 a head.

Calves born on January 15 have averaged 493 pounds by October 1 and returned $126, February 15 calves averaged 441 and brought $115, and March 15 calves averaged weighing 395 pounds and brought $103. It is easy to see, says the specialist, that anyone selling calves in October that were born after March 15, has barely met all his expenses.

A Jan. calf will cost more to raise than an April calf, but the difference in cost is not near the difference in gross returns. An April 1 calf is a losing proposition, says Mast, but a calf born on January 1 will make a tidy profit, even though the mother will probably eat $10 more feed during the winter.

Early calves do mean extra trouble. A cattleman can't sit by the fireplace during the winter and let the cattle shift for themselves. It is becoming more necessary that the manager be out thinking for his cattle, says Mast.

The big problem is weather hazards. If the temperature suddenly plunges to zero, those cows near calving must be watched closely. The closer the cattleman can come to a hundred per cent calf crop, the nearer he will come to showing a profit at year's end.

Flash! Junior Woman's Club Ladies to Wash Cars

"Believe It or Not," the Woman's Club are going to wash cars on Saturday, May 5, at Guill's new Cities Service Station, located on Route 460, next to Sneed's Pharmacy. The cars will be out in force, in shorts and working attire for the occasion. This is being done to raise funds, so that a handicapped Appomattox child can attend the 1962 summer session at Camp Easter Seal.

Camp Easter Seal, located in the beautiful mountains of Craig County, Va., has served the physically handicapped children of the Commonwealth for the past four summers. During the 1961 season, there were 255 children served at the camp. Children came from all areas of Virginia with such handicaps as cerebral palsy, polio, epilepsy, and speech defects, hearing disorders and many other bodily diseases.

The unfortunate children are warmly welcomed at Camp Easter Seal and find companionship and healing therapy. Many of these children are placed on the long road to recovery during the summer session and are eventually able to lead normal lives.

Please respond to this worthy endeavor by bringing your car to Guill's this Saturday and allowing the women to wash it. The standard price of $1.50 will be charged for this service.

In case of rain, the car wash will be postponed until Saturday, May 12.

Local Group Meet to Seek Tourist Trade

The second in a series of meetings sponsored by the Appomattox County Schools and the Appomattox Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held at the High School cafeteria at 7:30 P. M., Friday night, May 4. Guest speakers for the meeting will include Representative Watkins M. Abbitt, Senator White, Commissioner of the Division of Public Relations and Advertising of the Virginia Department of Conservation and Economic Development, and Thomas F. Norris, Superintendent of the National Park Service.

The Tourist Information Clinic is being held to afford the business people and citizens of Appomattox County the opportunity of acquainting themselves with what the tourist means to the county, places of interest, accomodations, events, dining, service and recreation.

The first meeting was held last Tuesday night. Lawrence H. McWane, Executive Vice-president of the Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce, and Charles McFee, Executive Vice-president and General Manager of the Automotive Trade Association of Virginia, were the speakers for the evening. Subjects discussed were Industrial Development and Public Relations.

Citizens of Appomattox County are urged to attend the meeting on Friday night at the High School cafeteria. Let's really make Appomattox a growing community.

RE-OPENED TO FISHING

Bear Creek Lake, a 55-acre body of water located in the Bear Creek Recreation Area, Cumberland State Forest, will be re-opened to public fishing May 12, 1962, according to the Virginia Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Division of State Parks.

The lake has been closed for two years for renovation and restocking by the Game Commission. After 2,500 pounds of rough fish were successfully removed, the lake was re-stocked with 2,750 largemouth bass, 27,500 bluegill, and 3,700 white catfish. Samples taken by Commission biologists last summer revealed that these fish had successfully spawned.

Creel limits for the newly-opened lake will comply with the statewide regulations, which are 8 daily on bass, and 25 daily on bluegill. No size limits will be enforced.

Transco Project Brings in New Work Group

Appomattox has out the "welcome mat" for a group of workmen, to be stationed here for approximately three months on a project at the Transcontinental Natural Pipe Line Compressor Station No. 170. The project is being conducted by Fish Construction Co.

Involved are two major items:

First, an addition to the present Compressor Station set-up to provide an additional floor space 26 feet long and 44 ft. wide.

Second, the above is to house the installation of an additional Compressor Engine, of 3,400 H. P., to increase the overall pumping capacity of the local Station. The local Station is a major unit in the nearly 1,500 mile pipe line from Texas Northward.

Once again, Appomattox welcomes these pipeline workers, most of whom have arrived or will arrive this week. All efforts are being made to find suitable living quarters for them and their families.

TOBACCO GROWERS MANAGE CAREFULLY FOR HIGH YIELD

G. W. Francisco of Nickelsville is an excellent burley tobacco grower, states N. N. Rich, county agent of Scott county.

In 1961, Francisco grew 2,602 pounds of burley per acre on his 3.94 acre allotment. The crop averaged $63.20 per hundred pounds, returning a gross of $1,800.58 per acre.

To grow this high yield, Francisco does a complete production job from the plant bed to the warehouse floor, Rich points out.

Plants are produced in two 9 by 100 foot plant beds. Francisco treats one of these beds with calcium cyanamid in the fall and burns the other in January for weed control. He fertilizes each bed with 50 pounds of 4-9-3 and seeds in early March. In 1961, he grew Burley 21 variety.

Francisco plows under 15 tons of manure and broadcasts 2,000 pounds of 3-9-9 fertilizer per acre. This supplies ample plant nutrients for the large crop. He rotates his tobacco field each year, never following tobacco with tobacco.

Before transplanting to the field, the plant beds are sprayed with DDT to control the flea beetle. Francisco feels that this practice is a very important part of his operation.

Although the 1961 yield of 2,602 pounds per acre was well above average, it was not Francisco's highest production year. He is looking forward to a bigger and better crop in 1962.

FIRST STRIPERS SHOW UP

The big stripers are from the landlocked Buggs Island Lake population and are making their annual spawning run up the river.
